“ So this is Christmas again and I miss you, with the New Year right around the corner. You are not here for these Holidays that we enjoyed so much, but I know a part of you is truly here and enjoying this time with all of us! Know that you are missed and never forgotten as I look at all the lights on the tree. Love and miss you every day, Dolores

“ Today marks 9 years, time goes so fast. Felt sad, missing you very much. I know you listened to me today as I was talking to you and we had a few laughs. Of course, it's not like talking on the phone every day, but it makes me feel like we are. Love and Miss You every day, Dolores

“ Well, it's 8 years since you've been gone and a lot has happened that I wish I could have talked to you about. But, I know you listened to me anyway. I still miss talking on the phone to you every night and day. You are gone, but definitely not forgotten. In my thoughts each day, as time goes by. Miss you very much.

“ Our deepest heartfelt sympathy goes out to the entire family. Despite our differences in the past, family will always be just that. While we never know God's plans for us all, it is hard to lose the ones closest to us. There is never a burden that we can't overcome. If we put our memories and the challenges we face in life together with the understanding and acceptance to grow stronger, our faith will once again bring us to our loving departed who will never leave our sides until then. We will all miss her dearly. May her angel wings be around us until then.
God's blessings always,

Very touching and maybe heart felt but differences will always be there it takes a strong will to forgive the parties for what transpired. Yes all God's children deserve there wings but at what cost to the broken families. If you are truly deserving then you shall receive your just rewards and continue into eternity with love and peace till kingdom comes. Amen
