“ I never met you, wish I did. May you breathe free for forever in Heaven after all your lungs’ suffering. It’s so horrible, the lungs and we have lost friends to the same type of lung cancer. Peter your husband is a great man and he loves you soooo very much. I’m so glad he and your family helped you every bit of the way through this, whatever you needed from him and everyone. May you find peace and total release in Heaven for forever of anything painful from your Earthly life. Rest well and still wish I got to know you like the other NJSD schoolmates did. They all love and miss you so very much!!!

“ Mom, I'm trying to find the words to explain how amazing you were as a mother and I constantly get stuck.. it's not because I have nothing to say but I've learned no amount of words i can say will ever be able to explain the unconditional love I have for you. Your strength has showed me , nothing in this world can knock me down till my very last breath takes me. I don't know one person who would have gone through half of what you did & continuously fight till the end. In my eyes you kicked Cancers butt , it just took your last breath. Your no longer suffering 🙏 You truly are my best friend & that will never change. I love you. May you rest in paradise ❤️👉👍 always your daughter .
